Our Presenters were: Dave Bashaw & Paige Kingsley who presented: John Milton Hay and The John Hay Estate at the Fells. Dave Bashaw led off telling us about John Hay himself after which Paige Kingsley told us a bit about the Fells itself and plans for the future.

A little about our presenters:

Paige is currently the Executive Director of The Fells. Her association with the Fells began four years ago with 20 years of business experience already under her belt. She served as both Events Director and Outreach Director before being promoted to head the Estate. Paige is a graduate of Franklin Pierce University and holds a Non-Profit Management certification. Working at the Fells seems a job tailor made for a person who, with her husband, has renovated and restored two historical homes and describes herself as passionate about antiques and historic properties.

David currently serves as Vice-chair of the Board at The Fells where he spends countless hours. He retired and moved to New Hampshire in 2006 after a career in marketing and general management for SC Johnson, Gillette, and Procter & Gamble. Many of you may already be familiar with David as study leader in multiple AIL courses at Colby Sawyer College. David is also on the New London Barn Playhouse board, and previously served on the Adventures in Learning board
